From the President

Robbie Reed

By now everyone should have received their ballots in the mail. Please take the time to fill it out and mail it to Stephanie Pitz postmarked by February 15th. Any ballots received with a post mark after that date will not be counted. Just remember every vote counts!!!

I hope everyone is beginning to make arrangements to attend the 2010-2011 Championships! It's not too early to begin planning. I hope to see everyone there!

I also want to suggest to everyone that organizers are the people who make this organization thrive! Please help them with set up and tear down of the pull equipment. It is time consuming and physically demanding especially if it is a snow pull. Please help out where you can!

Best Regards,

Robbie Reed

President

From the Elections Chair

Stephanie Pitz

I just want to take this minute to remind everyone to submit your ballots to me post-marked no later than February 15th. Any ballots submitted to me having a postmark after February 15th will not be counted!

Be sure to submit your ballot today! Don't delay!

Thanks!

Stephanie Pitz

Board Candidates:

Stephanie Pitz

Hi I'm Stephanie Pitz fro Region 6. I would like to express my interest in running again for a position on the IWPA Boa rd. I have served three previous years on the board. One year being appointed and 2 years being elected. I chose to take the current year off the board for personal reasons. I have served as your elections chair person for 5 years and would also again like to be your voice on the board. I have been with the IWPA since 2001 and have seen it have its ups and downs, an I love helping promote it in a good way.
Thanks Stephanie

Rodney Martin

My name is Rodney Martin and I have been a member of the IWPA since 2000. I have served four years on the board in previous years, and have been the Membership Chair since 2005. As a member of the IWPA, I have sanctioned pulls, put on the 2007 Championships with the aid of the members of Region 9, and have been the Region 9 Representative for many years. If voted onto the Board of Directors, I will always work to keep the integrity of the organization as my first priority. I am proud to serve the IWPA.

Terry Reed

Hello IPWA Membership. My name is Terry Reed and I am from Region 9 I am at this time announcing my candidacy for the IWPA Board of Directors.

I have been in the organization since 1991 and have served either as a Committee Chair or Board member for about 15 years of that time I have held the positions of President, Vice President, Membership Chair, Regional Coordinator, Judges Chair and Championship Chair. I have seen a lot of changes in the organization and have both pushed for and fought against some of these changes.

The integrity of the IWPA is something I am very proud of. As a member of your Board of Directors I will keep this integrity and will keep the best interest of the entire membership and the organization as a whole in mind when making decisions

Thank you for your vote and I look forward to serving o your Board of Directors.
Terry Reed

Sue Ferrari

Hello. My name is Sue Ferrari and you know me as your current Sanctioning Director and Statistician. I would like to run for the Board again this coming year. All I need is your vote to allow me to continue working for all of you. The IWPA is an organization that I care greatly for. Not only for the friendship and good times with my dongs, but for what it stands for. I am also the Region 2 Representative, small as this little region has become. I continue to strive to make this organization a great place to have a membership belong to. Please consider voting for me this upcoming election and I will do my best for each and every one of you.

Thanks for your support, Sue.

It's short and sweet, kind of like me.

Thanks again,

Sue

Diane Krupski

Hi Everyone! I am again running for a board position. I have enjoyed talking to you all and trying to make our club the best it can be. I have been in this organization since 1998 and helped out at pulls a couple of years before that. I have taken all suggestions to the board meetings whether I have agreed with them or not. I try to be impartial, because those suggestions have made us the great club we are today. I look forward to serve this club for another term.

Thank you

Diane Krupski

Region 6

With Championships right around the corner hopefully this article will be of assistance while traveling. Plan ahead and anticipate taking breaks for you and your dogs!

Easing the strain of long car rides

When driving long distance, stop frequently to let the dog stretch his/her legs, relieve themselves drink some water and if necessary, have a brief play session to alleviate pent-up energy. For young puppies, this could be as often as every half hour, and for adult dogs every few hours or so (provided they've been well exercised before starting the drive). If you're traveling on the weekend and have trouble finding a spot to take a break and toss the ball, you might get lucky pulling up near a large office building or commercial business park. These places are often deserted on the weekends and have large green lawns, not to mention trash cans for your waste bags. If you'll be crossing state lines or international borders, it's a good idea to take a copy of your dog's rabies certificate, just in case. It is also a good idea to have shot records for all other immunizations. Some states may require health certificates for traveling with your dog over a designated number of miles.

A few quiet rest stops (along with frequent leg-stretching opportunities) will be much appreciated by your traveling companion during long road trips.

Be sure to travel with plenty of water from home or give them bottled water to elevate stomach upset for your pet.

THE DANGER OF RETRACTABLE LEASHES

Retractable leashes are a popular item among many dog owners. Its design allows the leash to extend up to 16 feet (5M), giving the dog more freedom to sniff, wander, and trot ahead of his/her owner while walking, which in turn gives the dog owner more freedom to enjoy the walk without having their dog yank them around as they would on a normal length leash. Sounds perfect, right? Wrong! The retractable leash is a danger to dogs, their owners, passers-by, children, other dogs and just about anyone who goes near one while in use.

How dangerous are they? One top-selling leash even features a warning against eye or face injury cuts, burns, and amputations; and suggests extreme caution when using around infants and children. This disclaimer is followed by 2 pages of instructions on how not maim or blind yourself while using the leash. Unless you have an extremely well-behaved dog and are walking alone with no other people or dogs nearby, avoid using this type of leash—and be cautious around others near you who are using one.

If you or your dog should ever become tangled in someone else's retractable leash, immediately yell, "Drop the leash!" It might seem like common sense, but people do not always think rationally when things get hectic.

Your dog's head size can reveal how strong, fast it is...

A look at broadness, width can help predict strength and speed, study says

By Jennifer Viegas
Discovery News

The size and width of a dog's head accurately predict the strength and running ability of the canine, according to a paper in the latest issue of the journal Behavioral Processes.

The finding likely applies to other animals, including humans, and suggests that physical performance is constrained by trade-offs between structure and physiological features. It's therefore very rare to have a dog, person or other animal that is both super strong and speedy.

"In the real world, it would be hard to be both fast and efficient at running, and to be extremely strong in combat at the same time," author William Helton told Discovery News. "Nature does not allow unlimited budgets and the trade-offs are often physical constraints."

Helton, a senior lecturer in the University of Canterbury's Department of Psychology, studied how well 217 dogs performed during International Weight Pulling Association sporting events for canines.

Brachycephalic, or broad-headed, dogs that participated included American pit bull terriers, American bulldogs and Bernese mountain dogs. Dolichocephalic, or more narrow-headed, breeds consisted of Samoyeds, Siberian huskies and Alaskan malamutes.

None of the studied breeds included the extremes of each condition. Pugs, for example, have incredibly broad heads, while borzois are the polar opposite.

Even so, all of the more broad-headed dogs in the study were able to pull substantially higher weights than their narrow-headed competitors. Other studies indicate dolichocephalic breeds are faster and more efficient runners than the brachycephalic dogs.

Just looking at the size, width and basic shape of a dog's head can then inform the viewer about the dog's ability to fight, pull and run.

Based on this determination, "my guess is the absolute strongest dog would be one of the giant mastiff breeds (Saint Bernard, Bernese mountain dog, for example)," Helton said. "The strongest dog for its overall size is a sight-hound, most likely a greyhound," he added. "Other dogs are also very adapted to size in my sample was the American pit bull terrier."

"The overall fastest dog is undoubtedly endurance running, such as huskies." Conditioning, nutrition, personality and other factors also can affect the health and physical capabilities of an individual.

"The narrower (or wider) head is simply a skeletal trait that is an indicator of other skeletal traits," he explained.

Lisa Peterson, a spokesperson for the American Kennel Club, agrees with the study's conclusions.

"They make total sense, especially as breeders over the years have looked to enhance certain traits, such as speed and endurance," she said. "The same holds true for horses. Race horses do have more narrow-shaped heads versus those of draft horses."

A separate study conducted on humans demonstrated that people across cultures are able to predict, with a fair degree of accuracy, how much a man can bench press just by looking at a picture of his face. This indicates we may assess the strength of other people using this visual information more often than we may realize.

Since humans have narrower heads than other great apes, running speed and endurance were probably important for our ancient hominid ancestors, who must have often engaged in persistence hunting, meaning they were literally running prey to death.

"While we are not as fast as some quadrupeds, we are definitely well adapted to running for very long durations under extreme thermal stress, as marathon runners attest," Helton said. "This has definitely come at a cost of strength. Anyone I have known who has worked with adult great apes has immense respect for their relative advantage in strength contests."

What to know about Canine Parvovirus

The Canine Parvovirus (CPV) is a highly infectious disease spread among dogs and puppies either through direct contact or indirect contact through feces.

Background

The Parvo virus is a relatively new disease discovered in the late 1970s. In total four different strains have been discovered, although most infections are due to two particular strains of CPV – CPV2a and CPV2b. It can be found in dogs, puppies, wolves, foxes and other canids. It does not transfer to birds or humans. Some limited transfer to cats has been found.

Puppies are most susceptible to the virus. The two forms of infection are intestinal and cardiac. More than 80% of infected dogs do not show symptoms. With severe infection, dogs can die within 48 – 72 hours. The less severe infection, which is more common, only has a death rate of 10%.

Breeds such as Rottweilers, Labrador Retrievers, Doberman Pinschers and Pit Bull Terriers are considered more susceptible to the parvo virus.

The cardiac form of CPV is less common, but can affect puppies in utero or after birth up until 8 weeks. It attacks the heart and the puppy typically dies (suddenly) following symptoms of breathing difficulty.

The intestinal form of CPV can infect a dog through contact with feces, infected soil or fomites. The dog sheds the virus in the feces after a few days of infection and may do so for a number of weeks. The dog may not display symptoms and continue to shed the virus periodically.

Symptoms

Dogs and puppies that develop the canine parvovirus show symptoms within 3 – 10 days of infection.

Symptoms include:

- - Lethargy
- - Vomiting
- - Fever
- - Diarrhea (bloody)
- - Dehydration due to secondary symptoms
- - Distinct odor in later stages due to secondary symptoms
- - Sudden death in puppies due to cardiac form, preceded by breathing attacks

Survival

A puppy with minimal symptoms caught in the early stages of the virus can recover in 2 – 3 days. More severe cases will require hospitalization and in some instances blood transfusions from dogs that have survived the virus in the past may be used. This has been shown to provide passive immunity to the sick dog.

There is no cure, and treatment typically consists of IV fluids to prevent dehydration and methods to restore protein.

Prevention

Parvovirus is extremely contagious. It has been found to survive in fecal matter and soil up to a year even in extremely hot and cold conditions. Bleach is the only household cleaner that is known to kill the virus. The #1 prevention measure is to have your puppy or dog vaccinated. Older dogs should be given boosters.

Dogs that have recovered from CPV can still be contagious for up to 2 months. If you have multiple dogs, they must be isolated and bleach cleaner should be used for all shared items. Other dogs should be vaccinated or have a booster given.

- - Clean up all your (and others) dog's stool in your yard. This is a main method for infection.
- - Keep your dog or puppy away from other dog's stool in parks and yards. While on walks, clean up your dog's stool.

Be sure to ask your Veterinarian about treatment and vaccinations. Vaccines are low-cost and effective, get your dog or puppy vaccinated!!
