FROM THE PRESIDENT

Sue Ferrari

Happy February everyone,

I hope this year is treating you all well. I know many of us have ended with the cold/flu crud. I do hope you are feeling better. This round of germs is not very forgiving.

Please continue to watch you point standings, and if you see anything amiss, do let me know. The sooner I can get it corrected, the better. I'm also going to ask that you pay close attention to your dog's name and how it is spelled. I get quite a few different variations on them sometimes, and what is in the system is how your medals will read at the end of the season.

Keep pullin' them doggies!

Sue

FROM THE SANCTIONING CHAIR

Sue Ferrari

Reference : IWPA Site Insurance

Hello,

I wanted to clarify what type of insurance coverage we have and what it will and will not cover. Anyone who is an organizer or thinking of being one, needs to pay attention to this.

We have a policy through Sportsman Insurance Agency. This is a Liability only policy that covers the site where the pull is being held. If any damage was done to the actual site, a claim could be made against this policy. There is some medical expense included with this, but it is for a third-party person only, not a club member. It specifically reads "... this insurance does not apply to bodily injury to any club member or professional handler while practicing for or participating in any sports contest or exhibition that we sponsor." Example, a dog got loose and bit a spectator, that would be covered, if a claim was made.

When you pay the additional $50 to have the site included on the policy, this is still a Liability policy. The difference is, if there was a claim against the actual site, and they are listed as an additional insured, the IWPA policy would pay first against the damage to the site before the site's coverage would pick up. There is still medical expense coverage only for a third-party person, not a club member.

If you have any questions regarding this, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thanks,

Sue Ferrari
Sanctioning

ELECTIONS COMMITTEE

George Ferrari and Valarie Thawley

It is that time of the year again, when we ask our members to vote not only for the Championship Judges you would like to see this year, but also for the open Board positions.

All election forms were mailed on Sunday, January 5th, as per our Constitution and By-Laws. Inside your envelope you will find a return, addressed envelope. You MUST sign the back of that envelope for your vote to count. Also, you MUST return it to me, postmarked by February 15th. But why wait that long and misplace it? I encourage all of you to please take a few minutes and mark your ballots and return them to me.

This is your club, not just mine, and we really do want to hear from you.

Thank you,

George Ferrari
Elections Chair

BOARD OF DIRECTOR NOMINATIONS

I have been involved with the IWPA as a competitor and a judge since 2009. During this time, I have also previously served on the IWPA board. I have run the Western Canada Pull Club for 10 seasons and have hosted championships in 2013. I truly have the membership's best interests at heart and vow to approach any issues with a clear, clean mindset, from a member's perspective. I believe the organization has some great parts but also some parts that need improvement. I look forward to the opportunity to serve the membership.

Sean Hammell

My name is Cheryl Martin and I am your current treasurer and on the board of the IWPA. I have been part of the IWPA organization since the 2001 season. I have been on the board of directors in past seasons and I would like to have your vote for this election. I have been the treasurer for many seasons, as well as an organizer, judge, and an organizer for a prior championships. I would like to be on the board to continue aiding in the integrity and growth of our organization as well as upholding the rules and regulations which govern our long standing organization. Thank you for your consideration.

Cheryl Martin

The Risks of Essential Oils to Dogs

By Sheryl Franklin, adapted from several online articles

It's easy to confuse natural with safe. However, the reality is a little different. Essential oils are potent substances that can pose serious risks when used improperly. If you've ever used essential oils yourself, then you know how much of a difference a few drops can make.

Applying oils topically can be irritating to the skin — yours and your dog's. This is counterproductive for treating skin conditions and can add to your dog's discomfort. Therefore, without proper professional guidance, it's best to avoid using essential oils topically or directly on your dog. Instead, look for expertly formulated products that incorporate dog-safe essential oils.

The chemicals in essential oils are rapidly absorbed into the system, whether received orally or through the skin, and metabolized by the liver. Therefore, using essential oils could be problematic for puppies and young dogs, dogs with liver disease, or elderly dogs.

If your pup can reach the essential oil you put on him and licks it off, it could result in gastrointestinal upset. Never leave essential oils or bottles in a place where your dog (or any other pets, or children) can get them. If your dog does ingest essential oils, contact your veterinarian and poison control immediately.

Dogs' noses are much more powerful than ours, so consider that if you use or diffuse essential oils in your home. Placing a few drops of lavender oil on a dog's bedding may help calm them, or it may just cause further stress.

Oils used improperly can also lead to changes in behavior, adverse central nervous system effects, and respiratory problems — all of which can be serious.

Some essential oils are poisonous to dogs. This includes oil of cinnamon, citrus, pennyroyal, peppermint, pine, sweet birch, tea tree (melaleuca), wintergreen, and ylang ylang. These oils are toxic whether ingested by mouth or spread on the skin.

Natural flea and tick preventatives that use essential oils can be problematic, according to veterinarians.

The Environmental Protection Agency considers these products to be minimum-risk pesticides, which means they are exempt from most regulations. Some adverse reactions were reported when owners followed instructions for applying them to their dog's skin as a flea and tick preventative, although most cases of toxicity resulted from product misuse.

Since there is a lack of data supporting the success of these products, owners who use them may put their dogs at risk for flea and tick-borne diseases, so ask your veterinarian for advice about the best way to incorporate essential oil-based flea and tick control into your dog's treatment plan.

The ASPCA has a robust animal poison control info center and hotline, and their advice on essential oils is sweeping:

Cats are especially sensitive to essential oils, and effects such as gastrointestinal upset, central nervous system depression and even liver damage could occur if ingested in significant quantities. Inhalation of the oils could lead to aspiration pneumonia. There are significant variations in toxicity among specific oils. Based on this, we would not recommend using essential oils in areas where your pets have access, unless pets are supervised or the use of the oil is approved by your veterinarian.

Dr. Tina Wismer, Medical Director, ASPCA Animal Poison Control Center, says that, unless pets have respiratory issues, skin exposure is more dangerous than inhalation. She pointed out that pets can absorb topically applied oils through their skin, or ingest them orally when they groom themselves. While there are some products made for pets, like flea control products that contain essential oils, those are low concentrations that are safe for pets. But you should still only use those products as directed. Dr. Wismer said, "Cats are particularly sensitive to a lot of toxins because they have fewer metabolizing enzymes in their liver compared to dogs." So don't use a dog product on your cat.

However, diffusing essential oils can still be dangerous to pets. According to Dr. Wismer, "The most common symptoms for cats and dogs exposed to diffused essential oils are drooling, vomiting, coughing, and sneezing. Diffusing oils can be fatal to cats and dogs that have asthma or other respiratory issues."

She said that any essential oil could be harmful to pets, depending on how much they're exposed to and how. But the especially toxic oils, where pets are concerned, include wintergreen, d-limonene (citrus), pine, cinnamon, pennyroyal, eucalyptus, and tea tree. You can still have a diffuser in your home, but Dr. Wismer suggests, "Keep your pet and your running oil diffuser in separate rooms and avoid using the device for long periods of time."

Using Essential Oils Safely

If you want to use essential oils with your dogs, there is an easy way to do it safely: Talk to your veterinarian. Your veterinarian will let you know which oils are potentially harmful and can also provide you with information about the best carrier oils to properly dilute essential oils for dogs, as well as appropriate dosages.
