From the President:

HAPPY NEW YEAR! Welcome to 2019. I wish you a year of good health and happiness.

And don't forget, the season is almost over. WHAT!! Did I just say that out loud? I can't believe it, but sadly it is true. Where has the year gone? Before we know it, we will all be in Colorado for Championships. Are you making some vacation plans yet?

Please be watching your scores and let me know if things don't look right. It only takes one faulty finger in the wrong place and you could have issues.

I've been seeing a lot of new members, and even new provisional pullers all across the regions. Great work everyone!

Get them doggies qualified!

Sue

The dog ate our website

Ok, ok, ok we know that's not an excuse. We'll have it back up-and-running for you shortly.

May we never get this message on our website:
But it was too good not to share.

From your Statistician

Hello,

It's me again. I wanted to give all of you an idea of what I've had to deal with this year, so far. I'm not going to name names, unless things continue as they have been.

In September: things were done correctly.

In October: Missing a weight and time on a dog. At the same time, I needed to clarify if a new sanctioning was going to be snow or wheels. Another pull had the wrong dog in the wrong class and listed twice; and then I have all this extra paperwork I have to go through that I don't need.

In November: A pull that was missing some starting weights in a couple classes and increments. Another with the same dog in two different classes. One with no judges, missing dogs, monies not correct. Another where the dog count and monies listed are different from the score sheets. A non-member saying they were a member, missing weights pulled. For one pull all I got was the organizer forms, no financial forms, no monies, no pull sheets.

I will always try to email the organizer to get my answers, but that doesn't always work. I don't want to pull any points away from anyone due to an organizer, so please take a minute and make sure everything is filled out. I would rather it take another day before you mail it, then to have to try and track you down.

Thank you for your understanding.

She's gone to the dogs.....

BOARD OF DIRECTOR NOMINATION LETTERS

Hello, my name is Jennifer Berning and I am running for a position on next year's board. I am a member of Region 9 and am currently the Awards Chair. I've been involved with the IWPA since I was a kid when every weekend was spent acting as kennel help for my parents as they pulled their dogs! When my husband and I moved our family back to Colorado from overseas five years ago, I was very excited to be able to resume my involvement in a sport that I love and pass the tradition down to my kids. Getting the next generation of handlers involved in and excited about our organization is something that I would love the chance to focus on as a board member, as growth and inclusion are essential to keeping the IWPA going. I look forward to doing my part to meet this goal.

Jennifer Berning

Hello members,

Most of you know me as your Sanctioning Director, Statistician and currently your President. I am Sue Ferrari and am asking for your vote to be on the IWPA Board again for this coming term. I have been a past Vice President, and I have served you all on the board, I've been a judge for many years, and helped host a couple Championships. This is an organization that I feel strongly about, as you can tell by my commitment to this group. When you make for X in the boxes for Board members, please remember that I want to be your voice. Thank you!

Sue Ferrari

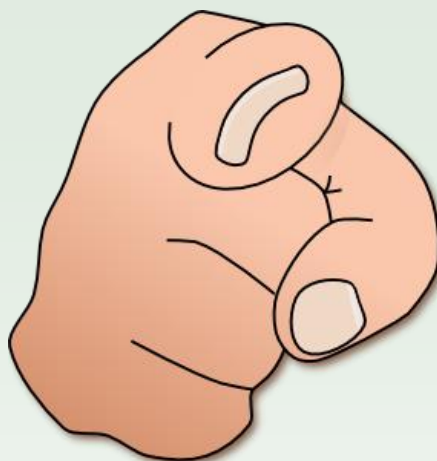

I'm Jean Wilson from Region 6. I've been involved with weight pulling since January 2010. I love this sport and the teamwork I've built with my dogs. Even more so, I treasure the friendships I've made along the way and the level of positive sportsmanship I see with this organization. I see the IWPA as a growing entity with new members not only coming on board but becoming judges and organizing events. I'd like to work for you to further the IWPA in growth and represent you, the members. I'd like to continue to be your voice. I've been a judge with the IWPA for a number of years and served for you on the board for the past two years. I have an "open door" policy and encourage members to text, email or call me if they have a suggestion, concern or just have something they'd like to discuss. If I'm not available, I make it a point to connect as soon as I can, typically in less than a day. I'd be honored if I were allowed to represent you again and ask for your vote in the upcoming election.

Jean Wilson – Region 6

My name is Rodney Martin and I have been a member of the IWPA since 2000. I have served on the board in previous years, and have been the membership chair since 2005. As a member of the IWPA, I have sanctioned pulls, put on the 2007 championships with the aid of the members of Region 9, and was previously the Region 9 representative. If voted onto the board of directors, I will always work to keep the integrity of the organization as my first priority. I am proud to serve the IWPA in this capacity.

Rodney Martin

YOUR VOTE IS IMPORTANT!

Watch your USPS mail box for your ballots! They should be mailed out on or before January 5th , 2019, so delivery should be within a few days past this date. Be sure to fill them out and mail back in a timely fashion or your vote may not count!

REMINDER from the Drug Testing Chair!!!

As stated in the Pulling Rules Section 4 (A)(3) "It is the handlers responsibility to submit documentation to declare use of any medication".

Simply stated, if your dog is using ANY medication it is the handlers responsibility to tell the Chief Judge prior to the start of the pull. A note from the prescribing veterinarian on the clinic letterhead is the preferred documentation.

If you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask!!!

Deramaxx, Potentially Deadly Drug

Intro by Sheryl Franklin, article by Tammy Marie (with permission of Tammy Marie)

Intro: This story is a cautionary tale about checking out all drugs used by veterinarians. Deramaxx has killed many dogs and is called Deramaxx "Perfamaxx" by some veterinarians. It has also been used successfully without issue in other dogs. For me the numbers of dogs harmed and killed is too much. Do your research, make your best determination.

DERAMAXX: ELANCO'S DEADLY DRUG

Anyone who loves a dog needs to read this tragic story and share it with as many pet owners as possible. My two-year-old Labrador Retriever, Pippa, is currently recovering from two life saving surgeries and a two-week hospital stay due to a medication called Deramaxx. It is an NSAID made by the pharmaceutical company, Elanco, and is often prescribed for post surgical inflammation and osteoarthritis in dogs.

Pippa tore her CCL ligament in her left hind leg on September 16, 2018 and was prescribed Deramaxx for pain and inflammation by our local veterinarian in Middletown, Delaware the following day. I was instructed to give her one-half of a 75 mg tablet every twenty four hours while we awaited a surgical consult. On September 27th, an orthopedic surgeon in Annapolis, Maryland performed a TPLO surgery on Pippa. He sent her home a day later with more Deramaxx. Once again, I was instructed to give Pippa one-half of a 75 mg tablet every twenty four hours. I was to continue this regimen for fourteen days.

The first five days after Pippa's knee surgery went very well. She had a normal appetite and regular bowel movements. She was playful and bright. However, on October 3rd, Pippa began to exhibit signs of distress, which included trembling, staggering, and drooling. Over the next few days, her symptoms worsened to include vomiting and anorexia. I visited my local veterinarian twice for treatment. On the second visit in the early morning hours of October 7th, I was instructed to rush Pippa to an emergency hospital in Malvern, Pennsylvania. An ultrasound revealed that an ulcer had formed in her duodenum (the first part of the small intestine), burst, and leaked the contents of her stomach and bowel into her abdominal cavity. Pippa would need emergency surgery to repair the perforation in her duodenum. The veterinarians at the hospital had no doubt that Deramaxx had caused the perforation.

Prior to the surgery, the doctors informed my family and me that Pippa was also battling sepsis. They would have to do a radiograph of her chest to ensure that her heart was strong enough to withstand the surgery. There were concerns that the sepsis could have already done irreparable damage to her heart and other vital organs. The doctors also warned us that even if they could perform the surgery, Pippa still might not survive. Her condition was that serious.

At that point, my husband, my thirteen-year-old, my ten-year-old, and I said goodbye to Pippa. It was one of the most heartbreaking moments of my life. Watching my children sob as they hugged and kissed their dog for what they believed was the last time was a nightmarish experience. Further compounding my torment was the fact that I had been forcing my dog to ingest a medicine that was killing her. I had followed my veterinarians' advice and inadvertently destroyed my once vibrant, healthy best friend.

Fortunately, Pippa survived the surgery to repair the perforation in her duodenum, but struggled with low albumin levels for days. Each morning, my family waited on pins and needles for an update from the hospital. When we could, we made the 1.5 hour drive from our home in Maryland to Malvern, Pennsylvania to visit Pippa and give her the support she needed. It was alarming to see her with a feeding tube sewn to her head and a drain sucking bloody fluid out of her abdomen. Needless to say, my children were traumatized.

We were ecstatic when Pippa was discharged from the hospital four days after her surgery, but devastated when she had to return the next day due to excessive vomiting. An ultrasound showed that the repair to Pippa's duodenum was leaking fluid, so she was rushed back into the operating room for a second surgery. It was discovered that a small piece of tissue on the original repair to Pippa's duodenum had become necrotic due to the sepsis. The damage to this tissue had not been evident during the original surgery. Thankfully, the surgeon was able to work around the damaged tissue and permanently close the perforation—despite the challenges presented by the presence of severe adhesions from the sepsis Pippa had battled days earlier.

After twelve days in the hospital, our sweet Pippa came home, but her struggle continued. She had to take Pimobendan for several weeks due to the havoc the sepsis wreaked on her heart. She also had to take Omeprazole and Metoclopramide to treat her damaged GI tract. She still suffers from occasional vomiting and had an especially severe episode on November 11th, one week after I weaned her off her medications. I returned to the emergency hospital where Pippa had another ultrasound. Unfortunately, it revealed several acute turns in her small intestine due to adhesions, as well as a suspicious fluid-filled area near Pippa's sternum. She was sent home with more Omeprazole and Cerenia for her nausea. We are returning this week for another ultrasound so an internist can take a closer look at the fluid near Pippa's sternum.

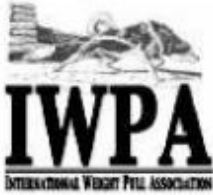

Over the past six weeks, I have been in contact with Elanco to try to get some financial assistance, as my bills to save Pippa's life are considerable. After two rounds of negotiations, Elanco is now willing to cover one-half of the costs associated with Pippa's catastrophic reaction to Deramaxx. However, if I accept the funds, I must sign a non-disclosure agreement and keep quiet about what happened to my dog. Clearly Elanco is worried about my story getting out. Perhaps another heartrending story about Deramaxx is more than the company's public relations department can bear.

After much debate and reflection, I have decided not to accept Elanco's money. I believe it is my moral obligation to warn other pet owners about the dangers of this drug. Upon searching the FDA's online database, I was shocked to learn that there are over 1,200 reported cases of dogs dying from Deramaxx as well as thousands of others who have had severe gastrointestinal side effects. I have also read several heartbreaking stories on WordPress as well as troubling articles published in the Washington Post and IndyStar about Deramaxx and its maker, Elanco.

Clearly there is a problem with Deramaxx, and my research has left me with some very unsettling questions: How many other pet owners has Elanco paid off? And why aren't veterinarians warning pet owners about the risks from this drug? Neither my local veterinarian nor the orthopedic surgeon gave me a fact sheet about Deramaxx or warned me that it could perforate my dog's bowel. If I had known that an anti-inflammatory could have killed Pippa, I would never have given it to her. Deramaxx wasn't a life-saving medication. Pippa could have healed without it, as one of the emergency veterinarians in Malvern assured me. He actually calls Deramaxx "Perfamaxx" because he's seen this medication perforate animals' bowels so many times.

Ultimately, my family and I are very grateful that Pippa is alive, and we have the amazing doctors at VRC Specialty Hospital in Malvern, Pennsylvania to thank for that. But as for Elanco and the veterinarians who failed to warn me about Deramaxx, I will continue to work tirelessly to make sure that they are held accountable for their negligence. Please help me spread Pippa's story and warn others about this deadly drug. And do not make the same mistakes I did. Do not trust your animal health professionals implicitly. Do your research, ask the tough questions, and demand a product information sheet before you purchase a medication from your veterinarian. It could save your dog's life.
