FROM THE PRESIDENT

George Ferrari

Hey there,

Where has the season gone? Didn't we just start pulling the other day? Hopefully you all have done well with your pups this season. Watch those points though, and make sure to say something if things aren't looking quite right to you.

I would like to welcome the new Board members that you have elected; Susan Gallagher, Jean Wilson, my better half Sue and Sheryl Franklin. Welcome aboard ladies! Thank you to everyone who took the time to vote for these new board members and your Championship judges.

Speaking of the Championships this year, we are hoping to welcome a lot of our extended family to the State of Washington. Make reservations now, if you plan on coming. Please see the note from your host, Marcia Ezell, in this newsletter. There will be some great t-shirts and sweatshirts for pre-order. A form will be out shortly for you to pre-order and there will be a very limited amount at the actual pull site. Get your orders in early, so you don't miss out. We have some great things for all of you, so we hope to see you here.

We will also be starting on the program for this year. Can you believe, it's our 25th Anniversary of the Championships? How cool is that? You are all going to want to be in the who's who, so please plan on getting your dog bios and photos to Robbie, just as soon as you can. And if you have a dog that qualifies for any of the Hall of Fame Degrees, please start getting those together and submitted also to Robbie Reed.

Let's all finish the season strong.

George

P.S. Guess who wrote this one?

Happy St. Patrick's Day

Is an organization that trains service dogs, free of charge, for combat veterans struggling with the stresses of war once at home. Operation Dog Tag was founded in 2011 by Joe Scheffer, a veteran himself.

Scheffer is a Marine who served two years in Vietnam and knows firsthand the challenges our veterans face every day. Operation Dog Tag is one of more than a dozen local veterans' organizations receiving donations from this year's Dan Kleckner's Golf Classic.

Facing the hard truth that as many as 20 veterans commit suicide every day, Scheffer felt compelled to do his part to help save the lives our bravest men and women. Operation Dog Tag receives qualified dogs from the Spokane Humane Society, SCRAPS county shelter, the general public, or dogs already owned by veterans, and trains them to help veterans deal with critical needs, such as post-traumatic stress, walking aids, wheel chairs and more.

Joe Scheffer is a Marine Corps Vietnam Veteran who runs a business called Operation Dog Tag in Spokane, Washington. He provides training and service dogs for military veterans who need them free of charge... he does it to save lives.

The back story

Joe did 4 years in the Marine Corps, and 2 tours of duty in Vietnam with Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, and 3rd Marines. They were deployed near Khe Sanh in one of the bloodiest battles of the Vietnam War. So he is well aware of what combat veterans go through when they return to the States.

"When we got back and went to Camp Del Mar, the guys in the barracks were told to leave and go to the other side of the camp and had strict orders not talk to us or interact. It felt like we'd come back from Mars and didn't belong."

Desperate for relief from what he was feeling, Joe tried to commit suicide 3 times. But that last time, as he began to squeeze the trigger on the gun he had pointed at his head, a young woman appeared and looked him in the eye. She said, "Please give me the gun. Please don't... I love you."

Joe said that he felt like he 'zoned out.' But as he returned her gaze, he knew that she meant what she said, so he gave her the gun and she disappeared. He never saw her again.

A combat veteran who understands

Joe knows exactly what's happening with our current veteran's crisis.

He went on to become a dog trainer. Since 1976 he's been training with police and military dogs. Four and a half years ago he decided to start his own facility – Operation Dog Tag- after hearing about the high rate of suicide among military veterans.

He asked himself, "What can I do to help? What did I want more than anything else when I got back? I wanted someone I could trust. In the jungle I could trust my battle buddies. But here I couldn't... the dogs were the answer."

Dogs don't ask questions. They're a heartbeat, a warm body next to you, and when they sense that you are going through a memory or problem, they nudge close or lick your face... they show love."

Combat veterans have vivid senses of the battles they've encountered the taste, touch, feel, smell of death. Joe teaches them that rather than focus on the horror, it's what they do with it that matters most. The dogs are life-savers.

Operation Dog Tag, "You're not alone"

One of Joe's most recent clients is a young man who lost a leg and some of his fingers from an IED explosion. He called a breeder who will be bringing two female German Shepherds to meet this veteran. He will be able to choose between them.

Then Joe will work with the man and the dog to help them become bonded, and make sure that they will work well together.

He does this all free of charge. His work saves the lives of our veterans.

"I love seeing the changes in these men and women after they get a dog. It's like breathing life back into them."

Needs

The nonprofit receives qualified animals from several places, such as the Spokane Humane Society, county shelters, the public, and trains them to help veterans deal with needs such as PTSD, veterans in wheel chairs, or as walking aids. And they could use our help.

"Operation Dog Tag" is in need of a building to lease for a training facility that has room for more dogs. Though they have been using the Veterans Center in Spokane, they need more room. They also need upgraded kennels and space for between 4 and 10 dogs. Winter is on its way, and the dogs need a place to be warm and safe.

There are many ways to help us have a big impact for this group. Please consider ordering a T-Shirt, donate to the donation fund we have set up for this group, donate items for the silent auction and consider purchasing from our silent auction.

Top 10 Winter Skin and Paw Care Tips

By Sheryl Franklin (adapted from ASPCA online article)

It's that time of year when we need to look at how the snow and cold are affecting our dogs.

Exposure to winter's dry, cold air and chilly rain, sleet and snow can cause chapped paws and itchy, flaking skin, but these aren't the only discomforts our dogs can suffer. Winter walks can become downright dangerous if chemicals from ice-melting agents are licked off of bare paws.

Dr. Louise Murray, ASPCA Director of Medicine says, "During the winter, products used as de-icers on sidewalks and other areas can lead to trouble for our animal companions, potentially causing problems ranging from sore feet to internal toxicity. Pet parents should take precautions to minimize their furry friends' exposure to such agents."

To help prevent cold weather dangers from affecting your pet's paws and skin, please heed the following advice from our experts:

- Repeatedly coming out of the cold into the dry heat can cause itchy, flaking skin. Keep your home humidified and towel dry your pet as soon as he comes inside, paying special attention to his feet and in between the toes.
- Trim long-haired dogs to minimize the clinging of ice balls, salt crystals and de-icing chemicals that can dry on the skin.
- Bring a towel on long walks to clean off stinging, irritated paws. After each walk, wash and dry your pet's feet to remove ice, salt and chemicals-and check for cracks in paw pads or redness between the toes.
- Bathe your pets as little as possible during cold spells. Washing too often can remove essential oils and increase the chance of developing dry, flaky skin. If your pooch must be bathed, ask your vet to recommend a moisturizing shampoo and/or rinse.
- Dressing your pet in a sweater or coat will help to retain body heat and prevent skin from getting dry.
- Booties help minimize contact with painful salt crystals, poisonous anti-freeze and chemical ice-melting agents. They can also help prevent sand and salt from getting lodged in between bare toes, causing irritation.
- Massaging petroleum jelly into paw pads before going outside helps to protect from salt and chemical agents. Moisturizing after a good toweling off helps to heal chapped paws.
- Brushing your pet regularly not only gets rid of dead hair, but also stimulates blood circulation, improving the skin's overall condition.
- Pets burn extra energy by trying to stay warm in wintertime, sometimes causing dehydration. Feeding your pet a little bit more during the cold weather and making sure she has plenty of water to drink will help to keep her well-hydrated, and her skin less dry.

Remember, if the weather's too cold for you, depending on your breed of dog, it's probably too cold for him. Animal companions should remain indoors as much as possible during the winter months and never be left alone in vehicles when the mercury drops.

Evanger's Dog Food Recall of February 2017

February 3, 2017 — Evanger's Dog and Cat Food Company, Inc. of Wheeling, Illinois, is voluntarily recalling specific lots of its Hunk of Beef product due to potential contamination with the deadly drug, pentobarbital.

Pentobarbital can affect animals that ingest it, and possibly cause side effects such as drowsiness, dizziness, excitement, loss of balance or nausea — or in extreme cases, death.

What's Being Recalled?

Although pentobarbital was detected in a single lot, the company is recalling all related Hunk of Beef products manufactured the week of June 6 through June 13, 2016.

The affected lots numbers that start with 1816E03HB, 1816E04HB, 1816E06HB, 1816E07HB, and 1816E13HB, and have an expiration date of June 2020.

The second half of the barcode reads 20109, which can be found on the back of the product label.

Where Was the Product Sold?

The affected products were sold both online and also distributed to retail locations only in the following states: California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Washington and Wisconsin.

About the Recall

The recall affects 5 lots of food that were produced from its supplier's lot of beef, which is specifically used for the Hunk of Beef product and no other products.

To date, five dogs reportedly became ill. And one of the five dogs died after consuming the product with lot number 1816E06HB13.

Evanger's is proactively issuing a recall so as not to risk potential exposure to pentobarbital in the product.

According to Evanger's, all suppliers of meat products are USDA approved.

The insists the beef supplier provides the company with beef chunks from cows that are slaughtered in a USDA facility.

Evanger's continues to investigate how the contaminant entered its raw material supply.

Because it sources its meat products from suppliers that are USDA approved and since no other products have reported any problems, the company is not extending the recall to other supplier lots.

According to Evanger's, this is the first recall event for the company in its 82 years of manufacturing.

What to Do?

Travel tips from ASPCA 2017

Traveling by plane?

Unless your furry friend is small enough to ride under your seat, it's best to avoid air travel with your pets. If you must bring your pet along on the flight, here are a few suggestions to keep your pet safe while flying the friendly skies.

Book a direct flight whenever possible. This will decrease the chances that your pet is left on the tarmac during extreme weather conditions or mishandled by baggage personnel during a layover.

Make an appointment with your pet's veterinarian for a checkup. Prior to your trip, make sure your pet's vaccinations are up-to-date and obtain a health certificate from your veterinarian dated within 10 days of your departure. Tranquilizing your pet is generally not recommended as it could hamper his or her breathing, so use this time to check with your veterinarian for ways to relax your pet if you suspect he or she may become afraid, anxious or uncomfortable mid-flight. For travel outside of the continental United States, additional planning and health care requirements may be necessary. Contact the foreign office of the country you are traveling to for more information.

Purchase a USDA-approved shipping crate. The crate should be large enough for your pet to stand, sit and turn around in comfortably, and lined with some type of bedding—shredded paper or towels—to absorb accidents. Prior to your trip, tape a small pouch of dried food outside the crate so airline personnel will be able to feed your pet in case he or she gets hungry during a layover. The night before you leave, freeze a small dish or tray of water for your pet. This way, it can't spill during loading and will melt by the time he or she is thirsty. Make sure the crate door is securely closed, but not locked, so that airline personnel can open it in case of an emergency.

Make sure your pet's crate has proper identification. Mark the crate with the words "Live Animal," as well as with your name, cell phone and destination phone number, and a photo of your pet. Should your pet escape from the carrier, this could be a lifesaver. You should also carry a photograph of your pet.

Tell every airline employee you encounter—on the ground and in the air—that you are traveling with a pet in the cargo hold. This way, they'll be ready if any additional considerations or attention is needed. If the plane is delayed, or if you have any concerns about the welfare of your pet, insist that airline personnel check the animal whenever feasible. In certain situations, removing the animal from the cargo hold and deplaning may be warranted.

Taking a Road Trip?

Traveling with a pet by car involves more than just loading the animal in the back seat and motoring off, especially if you will be driving long distances or plan to be away for a long time. Here are a few car travel safety tips to help you prepare for a smooth and safe trip.

Prep your pet for a long trip. Get your pet geared up by taking him on a series of short drives first, gradually lengthening time spent in the car. If you're traveling across state lines, bring along your pet's rabies vaccination record. While this generally isn't a problem, some states require this proof at certain interstate crossings.

Keep your pets safe and secure in a well-ventilated crate or carrier. The crate should be large enough for your pet to stand, sit, lie down and turn around in. Secure your pet's crate so it will not slide or shift in the event of an abrupt stop. If you decide to forgo the crate, don't allow your pet to ride with his head outside the window, and always keep him in the back seat in a harness attached to a seat buckle.

Prep a pet-friendly travel kit. Bring food, a bowl, leash, a waste scoop, plastic bags, grooming supplies, medication and first-aid, and any travel documents. Pack a favorite toy or pillow to give your pet a sense of familiarity. Be sure to pack plenty of water, and avoid feeding your pet in a moving vehicle. Your pet's travel-feeding schedule should start with a light meal three to four hours prior to departure, and always opt for bottled water. Drinking water from an area he or she isn't used to could result in stomach discomfort.

Never leave your animal alone in a parked vehicle. On a hot day, even with the windows open, a parked automobile can become a furnace in no time, and heatstroke can develop. In cold weather, a car can act as a refrigerator, holding in the cold and causing the animal to freeze to death.

HAVE YOU CONSIDERED MICROCHIPING YOUR DOG? IT COULD HELP YOU BE RE-UNITED WITH YOUR LOST DOG!!
