FROM THE PRESIDENT

George Ferrari

Fall is here, and the holidays are almost upon us. As the weather turns cooler, and snow is just around the corner, it's just the perfect time for a dog pull or two! Don't you agree?

I want to remind all our competitors, judges and organizers that unsportsman like conduct will not be tolerated at all during a pull and the competitor is to be dq'd. There is a lot going out on the social media sites, and I can't control that. But we can control what happens at our pulls. I can't stress this enough or say it better than from one of our own;

“Some of us have competitive dogs, some of us have dogs that pull for fun, some of us set personal goals for our dogs and don't care how they compare to other dogs. Some of us work our dogs in preparation for the pull, and some of us don't. Most of us want to have fun with our dogs and increase our bond with our dogs. It's a big tent. Big enough for all of us to get what we need from the sport. “

Let's all keep this in mind, and enjoy each others fellowship and play nice.

I would like to thank all of those who are veterans, who have served our country. My hat goes off to you! Please remember to thank a Veteran whenever you get the chance; many have paid that ultimate price for me and you.

Just remember, when it's raining cats and dogs, be careful that you don't step in a poodle.

Wishing you all a blessed Thanksgiving, filled with friends, pumpkin pie, relatives, pumpkin pie, turkey with all the trimmings and please don't forget the pumpkin pie.

George

P.S. Did I mention pumpkin pie?

Championship Project

From Wend Leister
Region 5

Hello everyone in the IWPA family. My name is Wendy Leister and I am from region 5. Our region will be hosting this years Championships. We are working on a special project for the Awards Banquet and I think everyone will enjoy it. But we need everyone's help to do it.

We are planning to make a video to play at the banquet for everyone's enjoyment. So, what we need from everyone is PICTURES and VIDEOS of your pulls. Not just of the dogs pulling but everything and everyone at the pull. From the dogs being pampered to silly things that people do at the pull. I would also like pictures of weight pull dogs that have passed away or retired. If you have potlucks after the pulls, get pictures of this too.

IWPA events are like family reunions and we want to show this. We only all get together this one time through the year, so lets make it rock! So PLEASE HELP!!!!!!!!!!!!

I am setting up an account at "One True Media.com". To make it easy one everyone here is all you have to do;

1. Take pictures and/ videos, also old pictures
2. Go to One true media.com
3. Log in WENDYL3@COMCAST.NET
4. Enter Password "iwpa2013"
5. Click on "My collections"
6. Then click "Create collection"
7. Click on "name", in this box please put dogs name, breed ,handler, region, pull name, date, or any thing interesting about the picture. If you don't know all that its okay. If you put at lest the dogs name, region, and handler that would be great.
8. Then click "Create"
9. Then click "create select files". This is where you will be able to upload the videos or pictures.

Thanks for your help!!!!
Region 5

Smile!
Thanks for helping our project be a success.

Good Sportsmanship, In and Out of the Chute by Sheryl Franklin

We don't want human bullies in our sport. Competitors, sure, bullies no.

We have a lot of good dog people in this sport. We also have a few bad apples. Some of us have competitive dogs, some of us have dogs that pull for fun, some of us set personal goals for our dogs and don't care how they compare to other dogs. Some of us work our dogs in preparation for the pull, and some of us don't. Most of us want to have fun with our dogs and increase our bond with our dogs. It's a big tent. Big enough for all of us to get what we need from the sport. However, there's those few bad apples.

Some bad apples consider themselves "serious pullers", not that there's anything wrong with that in and of itself. But, when taken to the height that only "serious pullers" matter in their minds, issues begin. Then they have no time or patience for the newbie's; no time or patience for the dogs they don't consider to be competitive; no time or patience for folks who view things differently than they do. In my opinion, their winning becomes the be all and end all and anything they view getting in their way they will stomp on.

There was a situation this season where someone anonymously emailed a regular puller of the IWPA who missed a pull, thanking the puller for not being there because their dog is loud and obnoxious, a distraction to serious pullers and is over all such an ill-mannered dog they shouldn't be allowed anywhere. It went on to say that everyone had a much more enjoyable time without them there and how people hope the puller finally realized their dogs would never amount to anything.

The puller received a second email from the same generic address (anonymous again) asking them not to attend a subsequent pull.

First let me say that this is a travesty. The puller has great dogs, and fun dogs that make us smile, and they are a joy to judge. Their dogs are not ill-mannered. The dog in question is a rescue dog and it barks. The puller got the dog at 2 and this was the dog's seventh home. At 6 years old now, the dog come so far, both in the chute and feeling more comfortable away from home.

Several people commented on missing the puller and their dogs. Only the anonymous coward was happy they weren't there. How cruel were those anonymous emails? How dare that person think they can selfishly bully people into not attending a public pull?

IWPA weight pull is for all levels of dogs, not just "serious pullers".

This bullying behavior is sick and disgusting. All of the dogs matter, all of the handlers matter.

If you see bullying behavior, speak up! It has no place in our sport. If you hear about bullying behavior, encourage the person to speak up. No one who is working their dog and following the rules should be made to feel that their dog doesn't matter, nor that they don't matter. Sometimes victories don't come in the form of ribbons or trophies. Sometimes victories are Improvement not only in performance but in confidence for a dog that maybe didn't get such a great start in life, but has a great second chance. Victories are what you make of them, and for many of our dogs they can be small steps in improvement. Look for them not only in your dog, but others' dogs. Those can be celebrated as much as the big victories. Indeed, they are the stepping stones to bigger victories.

Self important bullies don't get to stomp on that. The real "serious pullers" are secure enough in themselves and their dogs to be happy for others' achievements, and to recognize that their goals can and do differ from others' goals. Let's keep the tent big for all levels of pullers. But, let's keep the human bullies out by shining the light on their behavior and our intolerance for it.

Prince I-Da Mack and the Reeds Travel to Fort Benning, Georgia for training.

By Terry and Robbie Reed

On August 1, 2013 Terry received a phone call from a Captain who is a veterinarian attached to the 75th Rangers Regiment Dog Program at Fort Benning, Georgia.

The Captain had been researching Canine Athletic Events and came across the IWPA website where he found our name and number. He was interested if the type of training used for weight pulling would be beneficial for improving the strength and stamina of the dogs in the Ranger K-9 Corp.

Terry explained the type of training we use and told him that yes, he believed it would be beneficial to their K-9's. Later that day we received an email asking if we would come to Fort Benning and give a presentation/demonstration of the training to the team.

And there the adventure began. After several weeks of communication and planning we along with Prince I-Da Mack flew to Georgia to meet the Rangers. We had an interesting and educational adventure for sure.

First challenge was figuring out how Prince I-Da Mack could fly in the cabin of the plane not in the cargo area. Well, a ticket was purchased for Prince I-Da Mack and he was allowed to fly in style. Prince I-Da Mack definitely was the highlight for everyone on the plane and made many, many new friends.

One thing we learned is to be sure and ask where the dog relief area is at in the airport. We were given directions to find the park and what a relief it was! Prince I-Da Mack had the perfect park to run and play and well... you know the rest. We also learned not all airports are equipped with a dog relief area. So if you choose to fly with your four legged friend, be sure to make time to walk them before you get inside the airport.

Make sure to take a collapsible water dish too. This was such an asset we had no idea what a great purchase we made until Prince I-Da Mack needed water while we waited for our airplane to arrive.

We also discovered that those foldable, twistable travel dog crates work great (as long as your dog isn't a chewer that is)! It gave Prince I-Da Mack lots of room to stretch out and relax after a long day of traveling. And gave Terry and Robbie room on the bed to sleep! Who knew such a small creature needed so much room to sleep.

Once we arrived at Fort Benning we were given directions to the K-9 facility. We were welcomed and Prince I-Da Mack was given his very own Ranger Kennel to hang out in. A short presentation was made and then Prince I-Da Mack was on for the demonstration. He strutted his stuff like he was King. The team was impressed and wanted to see if their canine would do it.

Terry and Robbie had packed harnesses hoping the Ranger Canine team wanted to try it out. One maniac canine tried it out and the team was hooked! The information that interested them most was when Terry told them that a dog could be used to pull a wounded soldier out of harm's way.

They are now working on improving some of the equipment used and carried by Rangers which will enable the canine unit to help pull a load or wounded soldier if needed in the field.

Who knew the training used for competition in the IWPA could make such a difference in a life... maybe saving a life of a soldier.

The Rangers thanked Terry, Robbie and Prince I-Da Mack for sharing their training techniques and time. The Ranger Team presented Terry, Robbie and Prince I-Da Mack with a Certificate of Appreciation for their outstanding contribution to the strength and conditioning of the multipurpose canines of the 75th Ranger Regiment.

Terry and Robbie Reed want to thank all who have served and/or are serving our great Country in the Armed Forces. It is with your great sacrifice we are free.

We hope our and Prince I-Da Mack's efforts will someday save a life...

There are many reasons to be thankful...

Thank a Veteran for their service which gives us our freedom.

And

Thanksgiving Day should remind us to be thankful always....
